The following classes meet ONLINE

Section 7293 of OA505 Jan 25 - May 24 2022 TUESDAY 10:15-11:45am (PST)

Discussion Group -- Class focuses on Genealogy For Beginners- How to begin your research. This course is for a student preparing to learn about their family's ancestry. It will cover how to organize and preserve documents, using online, i.e., databases as well as offline resources and establishing a methodology to research.

Section 6778 of OA505 Jan 25 - May 24 2022 TUESDAY 1:00-2:30pm (PST)

Discussion Group -- Class focuses on Advanced Genealogy- American Migration- where did my ancestor go? This course is for a student interested in learning the why, where, when, and how their ancestor migrated across the United States. Areas of study include ancestors leaving Germany, the British Isles, Italy, and eastern Europe including those of Jewish ancestry coming to America. Timeline includes before Colonial America through 1960.

Section 5596 of OA505 Jan 25 - May 24 2022 TUESDAY 2:45-4:15pm (PST)

Discussion Group -- Class focuses on Roadblocks, Brick walls and DNA- Solve your Research. This course is for the student interested in learning about how to work through those problems in genealogy research. The student will present their problem to the class and the class will attempt to "solve" their roadblock or brick wall. Introduction to Genetic Genealogy and DNA testing will be discussed how to best use results needed to solve roadblocks and brick walls.

Section 6533 of OA505 Jan 19 - May 25 2022 WEDNESDAY 10:15-11.45am (PST)

Discussion Group -- Class focuses on Advanced Genealogy-European Migration- Why Did They Come? This course is for the student interested in learning why, where, when, and how their ancestor left their home country and their migration across the continent. Immigration and Emigration records, passenger lists, ships list and ethnic concerns will be explored. Ancestors living in various countries in Europe and Eastern Europe and the "push & pull" of their lives bringing them to America will be presented.

Section 6779 of OA505 Jan 19 - May 25 2022 WEDNESDAY 1:00-2:30pm (PST)

Discussion Group -- Class focuses on Understanding Genetic Genealogy. This course is for the student interested in learning about their DNA profile as reported in the 5 DNA testing companies. What is DNA, what test is of interest, rumors about DNA, how can I use the data provided to "discover" long lost ancestors and more. This course is ideal for a student who has taken a DNA test and is interested in using the data for understanding genetic genealogy.
